ACADEMIC AND RESEARCH BACKGROUND

Dr. S. K. Rajappa, is working as an Assistant Professor at the Department of Chemistry, Karnatak Science College, Dharwad, since march-2012. I have more than 20 years of teaching experience at post graduate & undergraduate (since march-2012) and pre university (Jan-2003 to march-2012) levels, teaching Chemical Thermodynamics, Chemical Kinetics, Electrochemistry and Polymer Chemistry. Actively engaged in research since 2000 and developed several organic corrosion inhibiting materials for mild steel and zinc. Many of the synthetic inhibitors exhibited superior anti-corrosion and barrier properties for mild steel in highly corrosive environment. Also many eco-friendly bioactive compounds extracted from plant leaves and developed as efficient corrosion inhibitors. The discarded (expired) drugs potentiality utilized as inhibitors for mild steel corrosion. I have completed one major and one minor research projects funded by the UGC start-up grant, New Delhi and Seed grant project, Karnatak University, Dharwad. I have successfully guided 01 student for their Ph. D. degree and 01 student submitted Ph. D thesis in chemistry, and more than 30 students for their M. Sc. degree dissertation work in the above areas of research. At present 5 students are working for their Ph. D. degree programme. I have published more than 26 and communicated 05 more research papers in peer reviewed international and national journals of repute, and presented the research findings in more than 40 national and international conferences. I have reviewed more than 20 research manuscript at different reputed journals. I have a member of few scientific and professional bodies such as Indian Society of Analytical Scientist (ISAS-Treasurer) Belagavi Chapter, HIM Science Congress Association, Himachal Pradesh and CHEM-FOURM, Karnatak University, Dharwad. I have organized national and international conferences under various capacities. I am working as the member of board of examinations of Karnatak University, Dharwad, Ranichannamma University, Belgavi and Davanagere University, Davanagere.
